FIRST RUN OF TOWN AUTOISTS

Gettysburg Automobile Club will have Sociability Run to Biglerville and Arendtsville on Monday.
Many Entries Expected.

At a meeting of the Gettysburg Automobile Club on Friday evening it was decided to hold a run to Arendtsville and Biglerville on Monday, May 22. The officials for the run will be appointed later.

Each car will be allowed sixty minutes for the run each way and must check in at the Centre Square, Arendtsville, at its scheduled time. The first car will leave Centre Square, Gettysburg, at three o'clock in the afternoon and the others will follow at intervals of two minutes. The cars are to run at moderate speed throughout the contest and no racing will be allowed between contestants.

The run will be accompanied by the usual system of checking and a record of each car will be kept though no prizes will be offered, the affair being purely for sociability. The route will be via Biglerville, both ways. Supper will be served at the hotel at Arendtsville at five o'clock and the first car returning will leave Arendtsville at half past six. John D. Keith, Esq., and Edward McCammon are the committee in charge of arrangements for the run.

Indications now are that the weather will be ideal and with the roads in their best condition following Friday night's rain it is expected that almost all the members of the club will participate in its first run. The fact of the cars all traveling on schedule and the effort to keep a clean record will add interest to the event.

All those who expect to take part are requested to notify either Mr. Keith or Mr. McCammon promptly so that all hotel and other arrangements may be provided for in ample time.

A black pennant bearing the letters G. A. C. was adopted as the official pennant for the club.

The following new members were elected, Dr. N. C. Trout, Edward Wolf, Edgar A. Crouse, Dorsey Dougherty, W. Lavere Hafer, Charles Rudisill, John N. Hersh, John McIlhenny.

MUST NOTIFY TAXABLES

Provision is made by an act of assembly approved recently by Governor Tener for tax collectors of the boroughs and townships of Adams County to notify all the taxables whose names are on their duplicates of the amount of taxes they are liable to pay when due and other data, within 30 days after they receive their books. The notices are to be mailed and the collectors are permitted to retain from the moneys they collect the amount of their expenses.

The allowance must be approved by the various boards of the districts for which the collections are made. The only requirement of the collectors is the filing of affidavits as to the expenses incurred in the performance of the task.

CLUB HOUSE BURNED

A two story frame building, situated on the road leading from Pen Mar to Lake Royer, owned by Walter D. Wilson, Hagerstown, formerly used as a club house and occupied by Mrs. Margaret Morgret as a boarding house was destroyed by fire between 7 and 8 o'clock Thursday morning together with nearly all of the contents. Mr. Wilson estimates his loss at between $2,500 and $2,800. Mrs. Morgret's loss will amount to about $500. Mr. Wilson had some furniture stored in the building and all of it was burned. The cause of the fire is not known. Mrs. Morgret stated that there had not been any fire in the building and the origin is a mystery.

POSTMASTERS ARE PLEASED

Show Appreciation of Entertainment
given during their stay here. Offer to Pay Share of Expense is Refused.

Among the resolutions passed at the closing session of the convention of Pennsylvania's postmasters in the Wizard Theatre this morning was one thanking Postmaster Beales for the entertainment furnished the members of the association during their stay here. A motion was passed to make an appropriation of $200 to help defray the cost of entertainment but Mr. Beales declined to accept it, explaining that he had gladly contributed the features of the convention.

In order that the conventions may not be a tax on the entertaining postmasters in the future a resolution was passed favoring a curtailment of the entertainment features of succeeding conventions. Other resolutions passed endorsed the closing of post offices on Sunday for the entire day; congratulated Postmaster General Hitchcock on his efficiency and promised him their support; regretted the retirement of Senator Penrose as chairman of the Post Office Committee; thanked Postmaster Alleman, of Littlestown, for his assistance in the matter of entertaining the visitors.

Easton was chosen without opposition as the place for next year's convention.

Dr. Martin read a paper on "Rural Delivery and the Reporting of Roads Traveled by Rural Carriers." He recommended that if supervisors do not keep roads in condition that the rural service be suspended until roads are repaired.

Secretary J. E. Crossland reported a membership of 343, an increase of thirteen over last year.

Friday evening the postmasters and their friends, together with the employees of the local office, were given a trolley ride to Round Top where the Citizens' Band played all evening and a luncheon was served.

The concluding trip over the battle-field took place this afternoon and the postmasters have left for their homes delighted with their stay in Gettysburg.

SMALL POX IN FRANKLIN COUNTY

B. Frank Royer, agent of the State Health Department, together with Franklin County Health Officer, Dr. H. X. Bonbreke and Health Officer W. Edward Finney spent Thursday in Waynesboro and Pottsville, or White Rock, investigating the outbreak of smallpox. When their day's work was done seven cases of smallpox were discovered, one in Waynesboro and the remainder in the Pottsville region. All are of a mild form, but from mild form cases often develop.

No trains stop at Pottsville and special precautions are being taken in Waynesboro and vicinity.

A large number of the delegates to the national convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Harrisburg will come to Gettysburg Sunday morning, all the members who apply being given passes here. The train arrive will arrive about 9:30, over the Reading and leave at 3:30. About one thousand are expected.

The Columbia Club, of Philadelphia, will spend Sunday here having arrived this afternoon. They made their headquarters at Hotel Gettysburg.

CARS OFF TRACK

Three derailed cars of a freight train a short distance east of Guilford this morning delayed traffic on the Western Maryland about an hour and a half.

The cars derailed were the last three on a freight going east. Little damage was done.

RAILROADS TO RUN SPECIALS

Western Maryland and Reading Consider Running Six Excursions to Gettysburg during the Period of the Chautauqua in August.

Both the Western Maryland and the Reading roads have taken up the matter of running excursions to Gettysburg during the chautauqua period, August 18 to 27, and as a result it is likely that six specials will be run, two on the Reading from Harrisburg and four on the Western Maryland from Baltimore.

The schedule for these excursions will be arranged to leave on their return trips about ten o'clock after the evening sessions. Several of these excursions will be run on Saturday as the matter of getting home for Sunday will likely be specially desired.

The matter of securing the lecturers and entertainers for the ten day period is going along rapidly and a number have been arranged for. The course will be exceptionally strong and when the committee announces the attractions it will be seen that the opportunity afforded local people is a rare one.

The canvass for the sale of tickets in town is most encouraging. The work of soliciting in the county will be started immediately after the distribution of some advertising matter now in course of preparation.

The steady progress being made for the big mid-summer event augurs well for its success which now seems assured.

NEWSPAPER MEN POSTMASTERS

Many of Pennsylvania's postmasters are interested in the newspaper business and quite a few of them own and edit papers in addition to their work in connection with their post office duties.

George W. Schoch, editor and proprietor of the Mifflinburg Telegraph is one of these and he was among the postmasters who visited The Times office during his stay here. Mr. Schoch was a participant in the battle of Gettysburg and fought on Big Round Top. He has been postmaster at Mifflinburg for a number of years.

Robert Patton Hagood, of Bradford, is president and general manager of the Star Publishing Company of that town which publishes the Bradford Evening Star. Mr. Hagood is also secretary and treasurer of the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association.

W. R. Flad, postmaster at Freeland, is another who is interested in the newspaper business and paid a visit to The Times office.

MONSTER SNAKE SEEN

While George B. Shaffer, who resides near Mont Alto and supplies milk to the residents of that town, was out in the field looking after his cattle he saw a black snake between 12 and 15 feet long.

Mr. Shaffer estimates its length by a lane across which it was stretched. It reached from one side to the other and was as thick as an ordinary fire hose. He didn't carry his investigation very far, fearing that his snakeship might result too close inspection.

This snake has been reported before. It was seen about a year ago and is believed to be the same snake for which John Robison's circus men hunted for a week about 30 years ago.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

The post will also participate in the services at Arendtsville which will be held on Saturday, May 27th, at 12:30, after which they will go to Biglerville and hold memorial services at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be good speakers at each place with plenty of music. The post invites everybody to attend these services.

SEVERE STORM VISITS TOWN

Hail, Electricity and Rain Contribute to Big Weather Disturbance in Gettysburg. No Hail in Apple Belt Prevents Damage.

A severe storm of lightning, rain and hail swept over Gettysburg Friday evening and, minus the hail, visited the entire county. For an hour rain fell in torrents and the parched earth, the dry wells and the shallow streams were all refreshed and replenished, giving relief to the hundreds of farmers and others who were viewing with alarm the continued drought and fearing serious losses.

Hail fell in Gettysburg for several minutes and the electrical storm was unusually severe putting out of order a large number of telephones both in the town and the county. No other serious damage has been reported but linemen were given a busy day by many reports of "trouble on the wire."

Fruit growers and farmers report things much refreshed from Friday night's rain which was of sufficient volume to amount to something. Fruit trees, crops and vegetables were all greatly benefited and the hail storm missed the apple belt entirely.

Had it passed over that section the damage would have been difficult to estimate for the trees are just at the stage now where damage by hail would have meant heavy loss. The prospects are now bright for the largest apple crop in the history of the county and should nothing unforeseen take place the fall of 1911 will witness the busiest time the fruit growers of Adams County have ever had.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE IMPROVING

William Kelly, the man who tried to commit suicide on Friday near the Pennsylvania monument, is getting along nicely at the County Home though he claims to be suffering considerably from the self-inflicted wound in his neck. Kelly says that he had been drinking heavily for the past three weeks and that was the cause for his act. He claims to have had a narrow escape from death some years ago while working in a factory. A large piece of machinery fell killing two men. Kelly was nearby and a piece of silver from the falling machine struck him in the head being imbedded there where it still remains. So Kelly says.

GAYNOR DAUGHTER ELOPES

Weds William Seward Webb, Jr., in Wilmington.

New York, May 20.—Gertrude Emily Gaynor, eldest daughter of Mayor Gaynor, was married in Wilmington, Del., to William Seward Webb, Jr., a son of Dr. and Mrs. William Seward Webb, of 680 Fifth avenue.

The young couple arranged the wedding hastily. The mayor didn't know of it until he was informed by the bride over the phone. Miss Gaynor and young Mr. Webb ran down to Wilmington with some friends, were married in church and came back to town.

Gertrude Gaynor is the third of the mayor's children to elope. Rufus W. Gaynor ran away with Maria Gluff, the daughter of a barber of New London, Conn., and on Dec. 10, 1908, were married in Chicago. She gave her name then as May Queen. Rufus discovered later that she had one husband living and a year afterwards the marriage was annulled.

A little less than a year ago Edith Augusta Gaynor, second daughter of the mayor, was married in Wilmington to Harry K. Vingt, a New York broker.

ARREST MAYOR FOR GRAFT

Chief Executive of Gary, Ind., Charged With Embezzlement.

Gary, Ind., May 20.—The arrest of Mayor Thomas Knotts on charges of embezzlement and perjury has led to a demand on the part of the Commercial club of this city that he resign, and unless the demand is complied with at once order proceedings will be instituted in the courts.

Knotts claims that the fines which were imposed and form the basis of the embezzlement charges, have never been collected, he having given the culprits time in which to raise the money. Many of them have never raised it, but the records show that it was paid.

TAFT IS AGAINST AMENDING PACT

Wants Reciprocity to go Through as Introduced.

Washington, May 20.—President Taft is opposed to amendments to the reciprocity agreement with Canada, no difference who is their sponsor.

It became known that the president looks with disfavor on the proposed amendments of Senators Root and Lodge, two of his personal friends and close advisers.

Should go through congress as it was introduced. He will make his fight along that line, no difference what Republican leaders attempt to do.

A heated colloquy between Senator LaFollette and Leonard Bronson, of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, occurred at the Canadian reciprocity hearing by the senate committee on finance.

Following this tilt a declaration by Bronson that the conservation policy of President Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot worked for the benefit of the lumber trust and forced up the prices of lumber, was stricken from the record.

Bronson had also declared that the withdrawal by the government of large tracts of timber lands was the chief cause of the high prices of lumber.

Senator LaFollette demanded to know what authority Mr. Bronson had for these assertions. This Mr. Bronson refused to explain, and after a series of questions by Senator LaFollette both the assertions and the ensuing colloquy were expunged on motion of the senator.

WHITEWASHER CONFESSES

Intended to Use Bad Eggs on Their Successful Rival.

Atlantic City, May 20.—Russell Pention and Paul Luts are accused by James Hamilton, of Absecon, with having been guilty of throwing a bucket of lime over the head of Enoch Adams, an Atlantic City bank clerk.

Pention is said to have admitted the fact, and declared that it was first intended to use old eggs, but when they failed to secure them they resorted to lime.

Efforts are being made to keep the youths from being prosecuted.

Portrait Sells For $116,500.

MADERO DELAYS GOING TO CAPITAL

Will Wait Until de la Barra Becomes President.

HE WILL STAY IN JUAREZ

Insurrectos Are Going to Inaugurate Many Reforms in Mexico—Gambling and Bullfighting to Go.

El Paso, Tex., May 20.—Francisco I. Madero is not going to Mexico City until de la Barra becomes president. The provisional president issued a formal statement declaring that he had never thought it advisable from the very first to start at once, although he had made preparations to start as soon as possible.

"Lately it has been indicated to me," he said, "that the government of General Diaz has the same opinion as I concerning the time when I should go to Mexico. Therefore I can definitely announce that I will not go to the capital of the republic until after Mr. de la Barra has received the executive chair."

Just what turn affairs took is not explained. Earlier the provisional declared he was not afraid of any reported plots to assassinate him when he got to Mexico City and that he was going at once. Now it is different.

Madero will now stay in Juarez until Diaz leaves his office, meanwhile sending his gubernatorial appointees out to their posts in the various Mexican states and transacting such other business as comes before him. His cabinet remains with him, or such of the members as are not being dispatched to Mexico as governors, and are discussing plans for restoring peace. The insurrectos are going to be permitted to have all the arms they want if they can pay for them. After several rulings the government has finally decided that it has no right to stop any shipments that may be sent to Mexico through the regular customs ports. If there is any occasion for further armed activities this year this will be another point in the insurrectos' favor that is worth much to the cause.

The insurrectos are going to work Mexico over until the old republic will be hard to recognize, if they have their way. They have ideas and are preparing to put them into execution. Gambling and bullfighting is not to be resumed in the republic.

"As is our president, I am against gambling and bullfighting," said Abram Gonzales, provisional governor of Chihuahua. "All gambling concessions made after Nov. 20, the date of the revolution's beginning, will be immediately canceled. All concessions made before that time will be honored by us, of course, but at their expiration no more will be granted. This applies to both gambling and bullfighting. We are now investigating the poker rights in Juarez."

Since it is known that President Madero is strictly against gambling in any form, the national lottery and all gambling rights will eventually go.

BANDITS SLAY 8 CHINESE

Mexican Band Loots Stores and Butchers Orientals.

Imures, Sonora, Mexico, May 20.—Bandits raided the Chinese quarter of this place, murdering eight Chinese and leaving three others so badly wounded that they were believed to be dead. The gardens and stores owned by the Chinese were looted.

The butchery has resulted in a general exodus of Chinese, who control the truck gardens and merchandise trade of the west coast.

The flame leaped to the edging of the pillow on which Mrs. Armstrong's head lay. She started up and with the bed clothing tried to smother the flame. Her hair was badly singed and the side of her face burned before the nurse reached her and put out the flames.

WHERE HE LEARNED IT

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

This is a story of Kentucky nearly a century ago.

One day a young man dressed not in the buckskin or linsey woolsey of the times, but in a costume that smacked rather of Europe than America, alighted from the coach at a tavern and called for supper and a room. It was at the end of the stage route, and the young man was obliged to proceed to his home farther south on horseback. This was the reason for his remaining overnight. There was not much amusement to be found in such a place, and after supper, hearing the strains of a violin in a saloon across the way, he concluded to walk over and see what was going on. At one end of the room was a bar, and at the other was the fiddler, who, sitting on a platform of boards set on barrels, was playing "The Arkansas Traveler." There was a story connected with the music, which the fiddler told, every now and again stopping to go on with the tune. At tables scattered here and there were men, most of them in hunting costumes, playing cards.

At the entrance of a young man in civilized dress every one looked up. The newcomer, being embarrassed, was about to retreat when one of the card players called out:

"Don't go, youngster. You're the purtiest thing we've ever seen in these parts. Let's have a look at them clothes."

"Those clothes," said the stranger, "came from a long way off. As soon as I get settled at home I'll probably go in for the costume of the country."

"What did you come from, anyway?"

"I've been to Germany."

"Germany?" exclaimed every one in the room. They had never before heard of any one who talked pure American coming from across the Atlantic.

"What war you doin' thar?" asked one.

"Studying."

"Did you go from hyar?"

"Yes. My father lives in the blue grass region. My name is Morgan."

"All right, sonny. If you hail from old Kentucky you're all right, no matter what kind of a rig you got on. My name's Speers. Step up and have some'n."

"I don't drink anything except beer. I reckon I can't get that here."

"Beer? No. We don't drink nothin' but pure Kentucky corn juice down hyar. Step up and have some of that."

"Thank you; I don't drink whisky."

"Don't know how, eh? Well, we'll teach you."

"You can't teach me, for I won't learn."

The speaker reached down between his shoulder blades and drew forth a bowie knife a foot long and began to poke the young man with its point toward the bar. Several of the others protested that the young man should not be forced to drink what he didn't wish to drink. Others maintained that if there was to be a fight he should be furnished with arms to defend himself.

"Is it drink or fight?" asked the man with the knife.

"Well, then, it's fight. What weapons do you like?"

"I'd as soon have a knife like the one you're flourishing as anything. But I don't wish to fight. I'd much prefer to go over to the tavern and let you drink all the whisky you like."

"Give him a bowie!" cried his enemy.

A man in the crowd handed Morgan a knife of the exact length of that of his antagonist, and he had no sooner got his fingers about its handle than his enemy made a dash for him with his knife raised high in the air. The youngster caught it on his own knife, making a gash in his enemy's hand from which dripped the red blood.

Speers unlocked his knife and made an under pass. Again the weapon was caught, and a fresh stream ran from its owner's hand. Then followed a series of passes by Speers, Morgan standing solely on the defensive. A dozen times he could have punctured his enemy in any part of the body he chose, but he refrained.

The interest in the fight among the onlookers was intense. The skill of Morgan won a bow to his side, who kept calling, "Now's your chance, young man!" "Let drive!" "Finish him!" But Morgan contented himself with blocking his enemy's thrusts. Finally Morgan called to the crowd:

"Do you think this has gone on long enough?"

"Yes. Finish it up."

"All right."

Every one expected to see him plunge his knife into Speers' body, but instead of that he wedged his own blade in between Speers' fingers and the hilt of his knife, gave his own bowie a fling, and Speers' weapon went up to the ceiling and falling, stood up in the floor on its point.

All gathered around the victor and were eager to hear where he had learned to handle a knife with such proficiency. He told them that three years before his father had sent him to a German university. He had joined the duelling corps and had shown a special facility for handling the small sword.

He had worsted one antagonist after another and shortly before leaving the university had been declared the champion for that year.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur
Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur. If properly prepared, The Weyth Chemical Company of New York put on an ideal remedy of this kind, called Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

His Awful Experience.
A man who had been shipwrecked and then cast up on the Jersey coast, where he lay a whole day before he revived sufficiently to summon help, was receiving the sympathy and congratulations of his friends on his recovery.
"You must have had a terrible experience with no food and mosquitoes swarming around you," said one of them.
"You just bet I had a terrible experience," the saved one acknowledged. "My experience was worse than that of the man who wrote 'Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink.' With me it was lites, bites everywhere, but not a bite to eat."

Not only is it true in shop and factory, but also on the farm, that the employee who receives promotion and an advance in wages is not the one who watches the clock and who does as little as a pretty dull conscience will allow, but who rather does a little more than he is being paid for.

SUIT TO END LUMBER TRUST

Ten Organizations and 150 Persons Accused.

"BLACKLIST" INDEPENDENTS

Government Makes Sweeping Charges of Conspiracy and Violation of the Anti-Trust Law.

New York, May 20. — Sweeping charges of a gigantic conspiracy to maintain high prices, to blacklist concerns not regarded as "proper" trade, and to violate generally the Sherman anti-trust law, are made in a government suit filed by Attorney General Wickersham in the United States court here against the so-called lumber trust.

Ten trade organizations and more than 150 individuals are named as defendants in this suit, which may be the first of several planned by the department of justice against combinations of retailers in staple commodities and the necessities of life to prevent the ultimate consumer from buying anywhere except from local retailers.

Government officials consider the suit one of the most important ever brought under the Sherman anti-trust law, inasmuch as its great object is to put an end to agreements which prevent the ultimate consumer buying commodities directly from the producer.

If the courts uphold the government's contention and rule that such agreements come under the inhibition of the Sherman law, it is believed that many suits will follow with the object of removing one of the greatest causes of the high cost of living.

The government's suit is replete with sensational allegations, and it is asserted that builders and consumers of lumber the country over are at the mercy of the retailers' organizations in different sections of the United States.

Philadelphians Involved.

The suit filed is against the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, which is the central body of nine local organizations covering five states, the District of Columbia and the cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Attorney General Wickersham and his special assistant, Clark McKee, have devoted more than a year to collecting the evidence on which the suit is based. This evidence includes copies of the alleged agreements, blacklists and reports of the various organizations, branding wholesalers and retailers, who have dared to violate the rules of the associations as "poachers," "mavericks," "scalpers" and "illegitimate dealers" to whom "short shrift" must be applied.

This is the government's first anti-trust suit conforming to the supreme court's Standard Oil decision, in that it alleges "undue" and "unreasonable" restraint of the trade of the consumer and the manufacturer.

Elaborate Blacklist Alleged.

The government charges in brief that by an elaborate system of blacklisting not only individual consumers but some of the largest industrial corporations have been prevented from dealing directly with wholesalers.

By alleged unlawful agreements and acts, it is charged, all competition for the trade of the contractor, the builder, the manufacturer of finished lumber products and the individual consumer, has been thrown entirely into the hands of the retailers in the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association and its constituent organizations.

The government's bill alleges that in some localities a wholesale seller to a consumer has either been heavily fined or expelled from the organization.

The defendants named in the suit, who are alleged to have conspired among themselves and with the assistance of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' association, have prevented wholesalers from selling directly or indirectly to consumers, are:

The Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, a New York corporation.

The New York Lumber Trade association, of New York city.

The Building Material Men's association, of Westchester county, N. Y.

The Lumber Dealers' Association of Connecticut.

The Massachusetts Retail Lumber Dealers' association.

The Lumber Dealers' Association of Rhode Island.

The Retail Lumbermen's Association of Baltimore.

The officers and directors, trustees and members of the above are named as individual defendants, as well as the officers and directors and members of the three following voluntary organizations:

The New Jersey Lumbermen's Protective association.

The Retail Lumbermen's Association of Philadelphia.

The Lumber Exchange of the District of Columbia.

The government asks for a permanent injunction restraining the defendants from continuing the conspiracy charged.

MRS. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND

Wife of Special Ambassador to Coronation of King George.

THESE GIRLS CAN BUY THEIR OWN ICE CREAM

Advise Mrs. Hammond to Buy Ice For the Poor.

Washington, May 20. — Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the special ambassador of the United States to the coronation of King George V., and president of the women's welfare department of the National Civic Federation, thought it would be nice to send some ice cream to the 1000 girls who were working in the census bureau on this hot day.

She acted on the generous impulse and the girls forthwith refused to accept it and held an indignation meeting. When the two wagons loaded with ice cream pulled before the census bureau the representatives of the women's welfare department found the census employees several points hotter than they had been at any other time during the day.

"If the women of the welfare department have money to spend let them buy ice for the poor of Washington," was the message of thanks that the welfare people got. One of the clerks, a woman who gets $1500 a year, acting as spokesman, said:

"It is ridiculous for these rich women who feel charitably inclined to send ice cream to 1250 women in the census office—women who are receiving good salaries ranging most of them from $2900 to $1200 a year. It is on a par with a suggestion made by the wife of a prominent member of congress and later a member of the cabinet and presidential candidate, who declared that the women clerks of the government should wear uniforms so as to distinguish them from ladies. The women who are employed in the census office, like the women employed in other government departments and bureaus, frequently come from far better families than some of the newly rich women who are seeking to benefit them by sending them ice cream."

Bornmann, a prominent political leader of Warren township, was sentenced to serve a term of nine months in the county jail for embezzling more than $3000 of the public school fund entrusted to his care. He was custodian of the school fund for seven years, and during that time his friends borrowed from the school money and failed to make good.

GAG RULE STARTS RIOT IN HOUSE

Action of Speaker Cox Causes Struggle on Floor.

ALMOST CAME TO BLOWS

Steam Roller Methods on Initiative Bill Ended In Melee Between Legislators, Attaches and Spectators.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 20. — Gang rule and the steam roller locked horns with the initiative and referendum in the house and after quiet had been restored and the rioters chastised it was difficult to determine the winner. Both sides were apparently satisfied to quit.

The chair was in doubt as to the real cause of the disturbance, and was at first inclined to place the blame on the cup that cheers. Later, at the suggestion of a member of the Philadelphia delegation, the chair decided that Thomas W. MacFarland, of the Forty-fourth ward, of Philadelphia, was the cause of the disturbance, and had him removed from the house. But he was not the cause, nor did he participate in the trouble.

The riot, which was a real one in every sense of the word, started when Clyde Kelly's resolution providing for the initiative and the referendum was called for third reading.

Speaker Cox had the steam roller working all through the session and was accomplishing wonders with it. Bill after bill was gotten out of the way, and objections on the part of insurgent members went for naught. When the Kelly resolution was called the speaker was giving it the same treatment as all others, when Kelly insisted upon an aye and nay vote.

The speaker permitted a rising vote, the result of which was, to the minds of many, favorable to the resolution. The speaker ruled otherwise and proceeded with the next bill. Kelly and his colleague, George A. Baldwin, of Beaver, called for recognition, but the speaker continued with the roll call on the next bill. In a moment bedlam broke loose in the house and there were appeals from all over the house from members who had received the same treatment as Kelly.

The uproar increased to such proportions that the speaker ordered the sergeant-at-arms to subdue the belligerents. When the officers reached the seats of Kelly and Baldwin they attempted to remove them from the house.

Representative Schultz, of Northumberland, who is a giant in stature and who had been objecting to everything on general principles, and who had been ignored by the chair all during the afternoon, rushed to the assistance of his colleagues as he pulled off his coat.

General Struggle.

This was a signal for a general uprising on the part of the dissensionists and in a moment the floor where the affair started was crowded with excited members, some trying to make peace and others inciting Kelly and Baldwin to stand by their guns. Mr. Klester, of Dauphin, who sits in the front of the house, took it upon himself to join issue with Schultz. A self-constituted vigilance committee divided its force and clung to the massive forms of Klester and Schultz, thereby preventing a hand-to-hand conflict.

The struggling forms of the two men, with the vigilant committee holding to them, terrorized the members who were in the distant parts of the house, and in order not to be left out of the action, Mr. McKinley, of Butler, called a half-dozen of his colleagues to his standard and suggested that they depose the speaker and take possession of the chair.

The speaker, however, was fully protected, as all of the clerks of the house surrounded the chair and looked able to care for any attack that might be directed against the throne.

While the insurrection was in progress Chief Clerk Garvin went to Kelly and Baldwin, who were in the hands of Sergeant-at-Arms James A. Sweeney and demonstrated to them that if they resisted and refused to obey orders of the chair they would be subject to a severe fine. They were amenable to reason and aided the other peace-makers in restoring order.

Speaker Cox, standing in his place, white with rage, ordered the floor to be cleared of all but members and newspaper men. The sergeants-at-arms obeyed the order to the letter. They showed no mercy nor did they deal gently with the visitors. In fact they virtually threw out several gentlemen who were enjoying the privileges of the floor.

C. P. Taft Off to Coronation.

Washington, May 20. — Charles P. Taft, brother of the president, with Mrs. Taft and his daughter Louise, sailed for Europe today to attend the coronation. Mr. Taft called up the president by long distance telephone and said goodbye.

Cabbage For Cows.

Cabbage is an excellent cow feed and if properly handled will not taint the milk or butter, says the Kansas Farmer. Fed on pasture or immediately after milking it gives no flavor or taint. It can be fed several hours before milking with no bad results. It should not be stored in the barn or milking quarters and should not be fed until after the milk has been removed from the barn. It has a protein value above most vegetables and is a profitable dairy feed when rightly handled.

Lettu-e is at its best when the plants form a head, as does cabbage, and to do this they must have room. The most satisfactory way to get a fine bed is to scatter a few of the seeds of a good variety broadcast, then when the little plants have put out their second or third leaf transplant them with a little earth attached to the roots in a bed, setting them about eight inches apart each way. The job is best done during a spell of wet weather, though it can be done in the evening and the newly set plants given a good watering. Lettu-e is a succulent plant and requires abundant moisture during the growing period.

Arsenate of lead is preferable to Paris green as an insecticide because it is more finely divided, stays in solution longer without settling and sticks to the foliage more tenaciously during a wet spell. Besides this, it does not burn the foliage, as is sometimes the case with Paris green. It may be used alone in water or in connection with the lime-sulphur or Bordeaux mixture. It should be applied within an interval of ten days after the petals fall, before the calyx cups close, and thereafter at intervals, which depend upon the time at which the eggs of subsequent broods of the codling moth are laid. The arsenate should be used at the rate of from two to two and a half pounds to fifty gallons of water.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Chairman, N. Y. Editor of the New York State Grange Review

OPEN NOMINATION

The National Grange Makes New Method Permissible.

Candidates For Office May Now Be Named When State Grange Approves—But Few States Have Adopted the New Regulation—Some Opinions on the Two Methods.

It was a part of the original grange constitution, if we mistake not, that there should be no open nominations or speeches made in placing names of candidates before the grange when about to elect its officers. But at the last meeting of the national grange the following resolution was adopted:

No nominating speeches shall be allowed in any grange, but in the election of officers it shall be permissible for a member to present the name of another member as a candidate for any grange office. But this rule shall not become operative in any state until adopted by such state.

So far as ascertained but nine state granges have taken any action on this proposition. Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Ohio, New York and Maryland have approved the resolution. Maine, Rhode Island and Kansas have disapproved, and the others, by taking no action, have allowed the original method of nomination by written ballot to stand.

There are, of course, different opinions on this subject, and these are well stated in the communications which follow:

A State Lecturer Opposes.

In reply to your question, "What is the objection to open nomination in the grange?" I am opposed to anything but a secret ballot, for some who will nominate can carry a great influence, sometimes even more than they should. Therefore it will be practically ruling out. As for the saving of time, I see no great difference. I have been at several elections, and about as much time was used as by the old method. To be sure, the ballot without nominations may re-elect more than will be for the best interest of the grange, especially the blanket ballot. We sometimes hear of deadlocks, but this seems unnecessary if all are interested and working for the good of the Order.

E. H. HALLETT, Lecturer Vermont State Grange.

Ohio's State Lecturer Approves.

There can be no valid objections to open nominations in the grange provided no nominating speeches are allowed. The danger in allowing a nominating speech is that some old grange wheel horse may be able to influence elections. In theory the closed nomination is ideal, as it gives every Patron an equal voice in the nomination and election of officers, but frequently in practice it does not work very well, and constitutes a very great deal of time. The Ohio state grange unanimously went on record in favor of allowing open nominations without nominating speeches.

Very fraternally yours,

L. J. TABOR, Lecturer Ohio State Grange.

Pennsylvania Lecturer Favors.

I note your question and in reply would say that I have no objection to open nominations, and, in fact, I am in hearty accord with the plan, having helped to get the consent of the national grange and later our own state grange to use that method of holding elections. It works splendidly wherever I have tried it. Some of the objections advanced at Atlantic City were that it favored the politician and that it would have a tendency to make our grange elections become political conventions; also would lead to personalities and cause dissension in the grange. But this is not my experience.

E. B. DORSETT, Lecturer Pennsylvania State Grange.

Contrary to a practice that has been in vogue for a long time, the best medical authorities now recommend shutting up instead of killing a dog that has bitten persons or other animals and is thought to have the rabies. If such dog really is mad the disease will develop rapidly and in the course of ten or twelve days cause its death. If madness does develop, persons bitten by it should be given the Pasteur treatment at once, while if it does not there is no danger whatever.

The national pure food law adopted in 1906 has done wonders in putting a stop to the dishonest as well as harmful adulteration of food products, drugs, etc. Another law needed equally bad and which would be of incalculable value to the agricultural interests of the country would be a federal pure seed law which would not only prevent the transportation of adulterated or otherwise worthless seed from one state to another, but their importation of such seeds from foreign countries. Agriculture is so important an interest and its effects so far-reaching that congress ought to see its way clear to do this much in its behalf.

The apple, the most popular of cultivated fruits, has a history that traces back into the far distant past. It is said that carbonized apples from 5,000 to 7,000 years old have been found in the mud of the stone age, while pieces apparently cut as for drying have been found beneath the ruins of the lake dwellers. Apples were cultivated by the ancient Romans and were introduced into Britain before the conquest by the Romans and by the third century had spread over the entire island. Apple seeds were brought to New England in 1629, and an orchard of considerable area was set out in Rhode Island in 1636. The many varieties of apples in the country at the present time have been developed from the trees first set in New England.

It is not too late to sow a piece of rape for the brood sows and growing pigs. It will be one of the most profitable tracts on the farm, and if the pigs are not turned on to it too soon it will furnish forage all summer long.

The mosquito pest about the premises may be considerably reduced by keeping a wire screen over the rain barrels, if there are any on the place, and by pouring kerosene on the surface of stagnant pools or ponds in pasture or wood lot.

KEELEY'S COLD CURE—TRY IT.

Some day when you wipe sweat from your brow, and the dog-on heat goes how-wow-wow just think it's not so very long ago that you were cussin' at the dog-on snow. You swore because that coal bill was so high. You swore at that hot cider in your eye. You swore because you had to shovel snow. You swore because the icy wind did blow. You swore when all the bathroom fixtures froze. You swore when Jack Frost froze your ruby nose. And when you on the icy pavement crashed. You all the devil's cussin' records smashed. Now, sir, if you do long for winter's cold. Why act the bull and knock and swear and scold? Just lie thyself to yonder storage trust. Where rats are frozen so they cannot bust. There in thy chosen element to dwell, You'll ease in comfort every heated spell. And, even though you are a stale old snide, They'll make you over, a perfect petri-fied.

C. M. BARNITZ.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. Is it true that chicken mites are like certain lizards that can change their color according to the object they are on? A. No. They are light gray in color, except when filled with hen blood, which shows red through their skin and gives them the name red mites.

Q. I had very poor success with geese last year. My stock was young, not overfat, healthy and mated early. A. Young geese are generally unreliable breeders. They should at least be two years old when mated.

Q. Why is it so many people fail in the poultry business? A. There are not more making failure of this business than in other vocations, and those that do not succeed generally fail because they do not learn the details and demands of the business before they enter it.

Q. My cock pheasants are eating the eggs. Please tell me how to prevent this. A. Pheasants generally do this when eggs are exposed. As nesting season approaches you should place bundles of brush around in the corners, leaving room enough behind for the hen pheasant to hide her nest. Scatter some small china eggs around for the cocks to get fooled on.

Q. At what temperature should I run an incubator to hatch duck eggs? A. First week, 102 degrees; second and third, 103 degrees; last week, 104 degrees.

Q. Do you run your poultry plant by any of these advertised systems? A. Not if the system is a get-rich-quick, nature fake gold brick. Our business is run on a sane plane a la nature.

Q. Which breed of fowls has the most perfect facing? A. The Seabright Bantam.

Q. What difference is there in the color of a Columbian Rock and a Columbian Wyandotte? Is it true that Buff Leghorns lay better than White Leghorns? A. No difference. Laying capacity depends on the strain, not on the color.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

While wild pigeons in the United States are about extinct, they are a pest in England. Farmers of North Herfordshire have petitioned the county council for permission to kill them, as the great flocks are destroying their crops.

A merchant of the name Rottenberg in New York was fined $200 for selling rots and spots. If the "name of the wicked shall rot" this one was rotten before and after.

Please remember when you hatch and raise fowls that you are dealing with flesh and blood. There's a big difference between raising chicks and pumpkins, but squashes can't see it.

Rank ground is a very common cause of poultry diseases, and how seldom some cultivate or renew poultry yard soil. Better send a chunk of your hen yard to a bacteriologist. Maybe that's where your chicks got gapes or hens caught cholera last summer.

A Williamsport (Pa.) fancier bearing a rumour at night in his henhouse grabbed a shotgun and ran for the henry. A thief on watch shot him and ran into the coop. The hero staggered into the pen, engaged the first thief and his pal and after a fearful battle killed both. Strange to relate, the man's wife locked him out, he was not arrested, nor would any one go near to identify the dead thieves. They were skunks.

A 5,000 egg incubator was set and so timed to hatch at the Philadelphia show that the visitors could see chicks breaking the shell and emerging by thousands. There were 5,000 entries, and on some days 5,000 paid to see them.

"Back to the soil" is a sermon preached by some cushion pressing city farmers that they ought to put to practice. It would be amusing to see them put their not air theories into practice, and if they didn't get a crop out of the ground the first season they might reap some old style common sense.

The poultry business is on the boom and has created a profession that is sane, scientific and satisfactory. It's as respectable as any, pays better than many and, in truth, is a conservator of youth.

Some of our most noted fanciers are ministers. Keeping chickens is a side issue that not only helps to supply their table, but it's a sort of safety valve for a professional man when he can sit down in a pen and tell his troubles to an old hen.

An Ohio resident recommends a teaspoonful of sand once a day as a sure cure for dyspepsia. Whatever the merits of this cure, there seem to be no strings to it, but it is cheap, and the supply is unlimited.

While instruction not to plant until danger of frost is over in the case of beans and some other tender plants is correct, a limited quantity of such seed may be sown as a speculation. If it is not cut down by the frost one that tuck ahead, while if it is the loss is slight.

WATCH YOUR SEED CORN.

Constant Care Required to Improve It by Selection and Breeding.

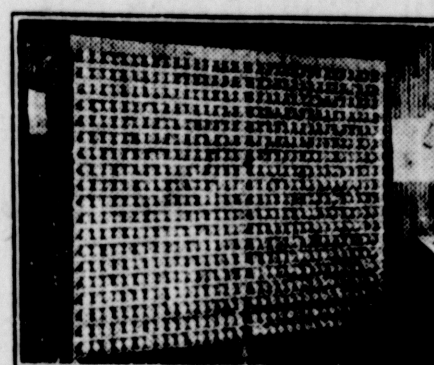

It is not enough to start with good seed corn. The strain must not only be maintained; it should be improved by selection and breeding, says the Farm and Ranch. The best way to do this is to select a suitable piece of land in a favorable part of the farm where pollen from other varieties of corn cannot easily be carried by the wind and plant a breeding plot.

Suppose you have ten ears of corn for seed. This should be the best that can be obtained. Prepare the land well and lay off ten rows. Take enough from each ear to plant a row in the seed plot. Take the best kernels from the center of the ear to plant and keep the remainder of the seed for planting the general crop. Number the rows from 1 to 10.

Give the seed plot good cultivation. See that it does not suffer for work. Take careful notes upon the seasons, the time and manner of planting and cultivation, when first tassels appear, when silks are dead, when in roasting ear and finally when mature. These facts will be needed when you begin your seed plot next year and all succeeding years.

Notice the plants carefully when tasseling to see that barren plants are promptly removed. This is very important, because you cannot afford to have the pollen from these barren plants propagate their kind.

Just before the tassels unfold from the sheath detassel one-half of every row. For instance, suppose the direction of the rows are north and south, then detassel the south end of row No. 1 and the north end of row No. 2.

SECTION OF GOOD RACK FOR DRYING SEED CORN.

(From bulletin United States department of agriculture.)

the south end of No. 3 and the north end of No. 4. Continue thus until the tassels are removed from one-half of each row. This will make it probable that the silks (pistils) on one half of each row will receive enough pollen to become self fertile and the other half receive its pollen from the adjoining row which has not been detasselled and become cross fertilized.

In general close inbreeding is not desirable, but it may be expedient for a year or two to fix the type. At any event, one-half of the plants should have a chance to receive the pollen from their own tassels.

When the corn has matured fully and before gathering time go over the breeding plot and make a critical examination of the entire plants—stalk, blades and ear. Note the size and height of plants, the character of growth, the vigor, earliness and maturity of the entire plant and size, shape and general appearance of the ears. If you wait until gathering time you cannot determine the character of the entire plant.

Mark the desirable plants by tying a red string around the ear. When ready to gather, take the ears and note the row from which they are taken. Husk the ears, and from the number take the best for the seed plot the following year. The general crop may be planted from the remaining ears.

Continue this careful method of seed breeding several years, and you will have a strain of corn that is desirable. Your neighbors will probably be surprised at your increase of yield and be willing to pay you a liberal price for excellent seed corn.

Poultry Pickings.

To keep a hen in good health she needs nearly seven times more fresh air in proportion to her size than does the horse.

Fowls throw off much of the waste of the body through the lungs. As they do not sweat in the sense that other animals do, they breathe when heated several times faster than sweat ing animals.

Most people think a pond or creek is necessary for the successful raising of geese, but this is not absolutely necessary, though it would seem to be more natural for them to have a pond or creek to swim in. They must have plenty of pure water to drink and will grow and breed just as well without a swimming pool as with one.

It is true that the cost of raising hens and producing eggs has increased, but the proportion is very small when compared with the increased value of the output. The cost of production has become about 50 per cent larger, while the growth of receipts per dozen eggs is between 150 and 250 per cent and the increase in the rate for chickens and fowls is about 100 per cent.

One poultry raiser told another that she was very foolish to set pullets' eggs, as they wouldn't hatch. The latter asked the writer about it. We answered that there was no truth in the statement, for pullets' eggs will hatch as well as hens' eggs, as other things being equal. But it is not advisable to restrict the settings to pullets' eggs exclusively, but use hens' eggs as well. The progeny from pullets is never so large or hardy as from mature hens; therefore the eggs from the latter are

A Kansas hen has lately laid an egg whose two circumferences were 8 1/2 by 6 1/2 inches. This is some egg. Can any of our readers beat it?

Many a man who has been leading an active physical life and doing much manual labor gets into the same condition that the horse does that all of sudden is allowed to loaf on full feed—both are likely to have astoria, which is merely another name for a system badly overloaded with albuminous matter.

It's Always Bad

The Best of Backs Are Bad When They Ache, and Gettysburg People Know It.

A bad back is always bad.

Bad at night when bedtime comes.

Just as bad in the morning.

Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?

Know they are for backache—for other kidney ills?

If you don't, some Gettysburg people do.

Read a case of it:

John J. Tawney, 234 Baltimore Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I hold Doan's Kidney Pills in high esteem and I always have a box in the house to use in case of need. I suffered from kidney complaint. My back ached constantly and often in the morning I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly get out of bed. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and caused me no end of annoyance. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so, getting them from the People's Drug Store and I was surprised by their promptness in relieving me. My health improved greatly and I now have no cause for complaint. Two years ago a member of my family publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in my behalf and at this time I can confirm that statement."
